Coloring Proofs — problem 2.22

A. Engel — Problem-Solving Strategies · 1998

You have many unit cubes and six colors. You may color each cube with 6 colors and glue together faces of the same color. Your aim is to get a $r \times s \times t$ box, each face having different color. For which r, s, t is this possible ?