Number Theory — problem 6.156

A. Engel — Problem-Solving Strategies · 1998

Several different positive integers lie strictly between two successive squares. Prove that their pairwise products are also different (AUO 1983).