Easy Geometrical Problems — problem 12.3.1.66

A. Engel — Problem-Solving Strategies · 1998

The distance between any two trees in a forest is less than the difference of their altitudes. Any tree has altitude < 100 m. Prove that the forest can be surrounded by a fence of length 200 m.