Further Strategies — problem 14.4

A. Engel — Problem-Solving Strategies · 1998

Prove that, in any set of 17 persons, in which every person is acqainted with exactly four other persons, there exist two persons, who do not know each other and have no common acquaintances (AUO 1992).