Geometry : Vectors — problem 12.1.17

A. Engel — Problem-Solving Strategies · 1998

$ABCD$ is a quadrilateral inscribed in a circle. Prove that the six lines, each passing through a midpoint of one the sides of $ABCD$ and perpendicular to the opposite side, are concurrent. Here, the diagonals are considered to be opposite sides.