Harder Geometrical Problems — problem 12.3.2.74

A. Engel — Problem-Solving Strategies · 1998

Two straight lines a and b intersect in O, and $\angle(a, b) = \alpha$. A grasshopper starts in $A \in a$ and alternately jumps to $B \in b$ and back to a. His jump has constant length 1. Will he ever return to the starting point A ?